

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

[0028] Systems, methods, and computer programs for performing cache yield analysis of a processor design are provided. One embodiment is a system for testing cache performance of a processor design. Briefly described, one such system comprises: means for searching a file that contains test results for a lot of wafers; and means for identifying all processors on wafers in the lot in which a cache array has passed a cache test.